

The Third Eye

She Motivates Me ...

From the day I was born,
she has been looking after me without any holiday.
From tying up my hair in the morning, to giving me my blankets at night-
She never tells me about successful paths of others,
but motivates me
to make such a unique and incredible path
that the world would follow me.
All she wants from me –
is my happiness
and for me to work for the community with my knowledge, truth, values and courage !

The Third Eye - a Coffee Table Magazine July 2014

The school released "The Third Eye," a Coffee Table Magazine which while focusing on photography sensitizes and draws one's thoughts to one of God's most important creations: "Mother," whose love is unconditional and incomprehensible. The anthology of poems by the students and the staff expresses the passion and affection which is realized through the inner vision.....THE THIRD EYE. The magazine also showcases the innate creativity of the students in photography and enhances their understanding to communicate their perspectives of the world.....both practical and emotional. It presents their skill of capturing precious moments and freezing them – be it a scene, a smile, or a moment of bliss spent with their mother. Here is a glimpse of the exemplary compositions:

I Am, But You !

I don't know how to define, what you are to me.....
My father says I am your reflection,
I find you breathing through my entire existence
One who shows me the way of life,
The soul of all my creations.....
My muse, who inspires me through all expressions
Of agonies and ecstasies,
My angel, guarding me always through the storms of life,
One who has held me safe like a pearl in an oyster
I would have sent the princely clouds
To convey to you my message
Had I been Mahakavi Kalidaas!

My Potter

Oh my potter! You moulded me and my life
And made me calm, composed and strong from inside.
While moulding you taught me politeness, kindness and love,
And also gave me a foundation and your strength.
Though your hands were gentle towards me,
But whenever needed, you also gave a hard tap to me.
I know during my life....I will shatter into pieces many times,
But I always have trust in you
That whenever I will go out of shape...again you will hold me back.
Oh my potter! I promise you that I will never let you down
As I never want to see you frown
I love to be in your hands forever in my life.
